You've got all the basics covered
Sea, Sand, Sun, Serenity

Welcome Home

Located between Biscayne Bay and the Atlantic Ocean across the mainland, the Village of Key Biscayne has long been depicted for its tranquil sandy beaches and pristine waters. A natural reserve that allows for the pursuit of family fun embracing the security of the Island found nowhere else in Miami. Imagine your children playing soccer on the Village Green or riding their bikes to school. Key Biscayne offers you a lifestyle that is defined as idyllic. Urban-style living puts you in the center of shops, banking and gourmet restaurants. The Village Community Center offers activities for those of all ages and the famed Sony Open invites you to the outdoor sport of tennis. Plus, local public golf facilities are right next door. Stroll the parks, ride your bike, access our private beaches or get to the airport minutes away. Be a part of it and start life like it's meant to be. Get back to the basics.

Eric Soulavy

Eric Soulavy, 38, is president of R.E.A.C., a family-owned company with multiple properties on Key Biscayne. A native of Venezuela, Soulavy, his wife and their three children became full-time residents of Key Biscayne three years ago, after visiting the community for more than two decades. Soulavy has an extensive background in luxury customer sales and service, including serving as CEO for Bavarian Motors Venezuela, a leading BMW importer in Venezuela, Argentina, Uruguay and Costa Rica.

Oscar Segall

A Key Biscayne resident for four years, Oscar Segall, 49, has more than 15 years of residential development experience in Brazil. After a career in marketing, Segall founded Klabin Segall SA in 1994 in São Paulo and began developing multifamily projects, along with several single-family home communities. In 2006, Klabin Segall became a public company and Segall sold his interest three years later. At that point, the company's accomplishments included 100 residential multifamily projects totaling more than 20,000 units in São Paulo, Rio de Janeiro, Minas Gerais and other states.
